

JULY 8TH 2008

Dear Sirs;

I was appalled at the "High Stakes Secret Review of Canada Post"

The priveleged letters ,etc., should not be open to competition.

Our Postal service may not be perfect, but have not had any big time problems, and we would not be happy with ANY kind of changes. The service is quick, competent, and courtious. Why make a change?

I feel the Government is try to fix something that does not need fixing,,

Some may complain about the cost of a letter but have they recieved one from the United STATES OR ENGLAND? I have.

A speedy review without hearings is hardly a democratic way to decide fate of our puplicly owned Post Office.

EMILY BRIERLEY

SASK