

To Whom It May Concern:

Why did the federal government decide not to hold public hearings regarding the review? We feel it is because they knew what the response would be from the general public (people like ourselves--the working class) and the small businesses. Deregulation would only be beneficial to Canada Post's large volume mailers--approximately 200 in total--a small percentage of the customer base. Postal deregulation in other countries have led to post office closures, less service, fewer jobs for the public and higher rates for us (the general public and small businesses). This is a service that the public still likes and feel they have some input into it. WE WANT OUR CURRENT POSTAL SYSTEM TO REMAIN IN PLACE. IF IT NOT BROKEN THEN LEAVE IT ALONE!!!!
