Re: Concerns regarding review of postal services

The Council for the Hamlet of Aklavik would like to request that the Federal Government consider doing public consultations for the review of postal services. We feel that you would get better input from the people who rely on postal services to maintain a healthy lifestyle. Postal services in small remote communities affect the lives of those who depend on this service to receive government cheque and other important documents through the mail. In small communities the postal services is our only means of doing business. If the users of postal services were aware that this review is going on I am sure you would get many comments that can help in the direction of this Corporation.

We thank you in advance for considering a proper public review.

Sincerely,

Evelyn Storr
Senior Administrative Officer
