

I would like to express my opinion on any thought to deregulate Canada Post Corp. By going private in any way, the existing CPC Employees as a whole, not just PSAC members would be most likely be negatively affected. The fall out would mean salary reductions and lost jobs. This would result in a trickle down effect, less consumer spending. I don't think any Political party would want to be responsible for such a calamity. Don't we have enough problems? CPC has been generating profits to this day, and even if it were to have an off year, is that any reason to throw in the towel? I therefore submit to you, please keep CPC as it is and let it prove that it can continue to be a viable productive and cost effective Company. Thank-you.

Ralf Semmler

MB